Man sought in abduction of child near Oscoda / Crawford County line

10-year-old girl kidnapped October 16 while walking to friends, assaulted, released the following morning

Police authorities in northern Michigan are looking for a suspect in the abduction and alleged rape of a 10-year-old Red Oak girl. The girl was kidnapped October 16, near Town Hall Road and Oscoda County Road 489, while walking to a friend's house, according to the Oscoda County Sheriff Department.

She was reported missing to the Oscoda County authorities shortly after 8 p.m. A search of the area was made by sheriff deputies, and Michigan State Police K9 unit that evening, and again the following morning with no success.

Oscoda County Undersheriff Mike Larrison said, "After he abducted the girl, he parked in the woods near Townline Road and Ruth Road in Greenwood Township where he sexually assaulted her. He released her in the morning."

After her release, the girl walked two to two and one-half miles before she approached a home for help. The authorities were then notified that she had been found.

During her walk, the girl was stopped by a female in a car that asked her if she was the missing girl. Undersheriff Larrison said, "She wasn't interested in getting in any strangers' car. She told them no." The Oscoda County Sheriff Department is now looking for that female in hopes that she was a witness to the vehicle the abductor was driving.

The abductors' vehicle is described as a small, black, two-door car with a black interior.

The abductor is described as a white male, around 29 years old, about five-foot nine-inches tall with a medium build. He has a soft, higher-pitched voice. He has a medium complexion, dark brown to black hair, a heavy mustache, and at the time of the abduction had a one day's growth of beard. His hair is thick and partially covers his ears, and he has gaps between teeth.

The area of the girl's abduction is about five miles east of the Crawford County line intersection with North Down River Road.

Oscoda County officials are asking residents in nearby counties to keep an eye out for the suspect. They currently are in the process of following up on some 200 tips, but have not released any information of concrete evidence. If you have any information on this investigation, you are asked to call the Oscoda County Sheriff Department at (517) 826-3214, or dial toll free 1-800-815-8477.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS MAN?--This is a police composite drawing of the man who abducted a ten-year-old Red Oak girl on October 16. If you have seen this man please call the Oscoda County Sheriff at 1-826-3214.

Governor's tax reform plan under local fire

County treasurer wants to make state pay their fair share on land

By Terry Wright

Crawford County would lose about $195,000 annually in state revenue sharing under Governor John Engler's school finance reform proposal (Senate Bill 1). To make up for the loss the county would be able to levy up to two mills of tax without going to county voters. Townships could levy up to three mills to replace lost funds.

This aspect of the Governor's proposal will be part of the Michigan constitutional amendment that residents will be asked to vote on February 8.

In a 57 page synopsis of his school reform plan entitled, "Our Kids Deserve Better," Engler explains, "The use of these extra allocated mills will, in most cases, be adequate to cover all local revenue reductions resulting from Senate Bill 1."

Crawford County Treasurer Joseph Wakeley said, "To replace the roughly $195,000 that Crawford County would lose if state revenue sharing is lost, the Board of Commissioners would have to spread more than three-fourths of one mill based on current state equalized valuation."

The latest proposal from Engler is different from his original October 5, proposal that he explained in a speech before a joint session of the Michigan Senate and the House of Representatives.

Originally Engler had included in his proposal a plan to eliminate state grants for local government for tax exempt (state owned), property, including swamp taxes of $2.50 an acre on tax reverted lands, commercial forest property grants of $1.20 per acre, and ad valorem taxes on public lands.

With over 70 percent of Crawford County lands belonging to the State of Michigan, this aspect of the governor's original proposal could have been disastrous.

"Two mills would not replace the amount of money lost by the elimination of revenue sharing, plus the elimination of those taxes," Wakeley said. "We would need to levy about 3.27 mills to Crawford County residents to come out even."

A survey of 66 counties statewide shows that, like Crawford County, 42 percent, or 28 counties, would also have to levy more than the two mills in Engler's plan to replace lost revenue. Taxpayers in the Upper Peninsula would pay the most because of large tracts of publicly held land in areas of very low property values. Leading the way would be Schoolcraft County who stands to lose nearly $775,000 under the Engler proposal. Schoolcraft County would have to levy nearly six additional mills to make up for the loss.

Testifying in Lansing before a senate committee studying the proposal, Wakeley said, "We want to make sure the state is going to pay their fair share on the property they own. If they're not, they should sell that property."

Apparently Wakeley's words, and the words of others who spoke before the committee did not fall on deaf ears. It was announced last Friday that part of the proposal had been dropped.

Speaking of the proposal in general, Wakeley said, "This tax thing is very confusing, and the fact that the counties will have to levy extra taxes will jeopardize the passage of the constitutional amendment. It will be hard for people to understand what they are voting on."

Sheriff Dept. solves B & E's

On Tuesday, after a three week investigation, Crawford County Sheriff deputies cleared up two recent breaking and enterings and one attempted B&E. The crimes took place in the Sherwood Forest and Evergreen Drive subdivisions. The homes that were broken into were all occupied residences.

Deputies recovered several hundred dollars worth of property that had been stolen.

The investigation has led to the apprehension of three juvenile suspects.

All three suspects will be petitioned into Probate Court. No names of the minors will be released.

Lots of treats, no tricks on Halloween this year

Crawford County Undersheriff Art Clough stated that there were no problems reported this year for little trick-or-treaters throughout the county.

Despite the colder than normal temperatures, a large number of goblins and gremlins of all shapes and sizes took to the streets on Sunday evening. Problems of vandalism and tampering with candy that have plagued many cities across the country in years past, were non-existent in Grayling this year.

Radiology technicians at Mercy hospital were kept busy X-Raying about 85 bags of candy with no extra surprises found in any halloween bags.

Hanson Hills gears up for big skiing season

By Terry Wright

Hanson Hills Recreation Area is gearing up for its winter opening on December 11, and with a little luck, this could be its biggest and best year in many years.

Dan Wyers, the Director of Hanson Hills said, "The new snowmaking equipment will allow us to open earlier and remain open later. That means we will be able to service more people with more programs."

Wyers pointed out some improvements that have been made since last year including the removal of one of the two beginners slopes and extensive excavation of another hill with a 15 foot starting ramp to facilitate better skiing. Where the beginners hill was, a half-pipe is planned for snow boarding.

"I'm excited that high school ski competition is coming back to Hanson Hills after an absence of many years," Wyers said. "This year both the Roscommon and Grayling ski teams will practice here, and they've scheduled several ski meets. We're also planning a Thursday night adult racing league after the first of the year."

As usual, Grayling fourth and fifth graders will be offered a free after school skiing program, with instruction, when they return to school from Christmas vacation.

Snowmaking is scheduled to begin the week of Thanksgiving. Unless there are unseasonably warm temperatures, there should be an ample base by opening day to guarantee great skiing.

The ski rental department has been enlarged this year with the addition of 30 pairs of good used skis and a much wider selection of boots in middle school to adult sizes.

The hours of operation are a little different this year. Downhill skiing will be 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, and from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Tow fees, rental fees, and ski school rates have increased slightly (less than $1 per day), also. The ski school is sponsored by the Professional Ski Instructors of America, and as always the National Ski Patrol will be on duty for assistance and emergencies.

AuSable M-72 bridge now under construction, one lane until spring

The replacement of the AuSable River Bridge on M-72 West is underway. The new bridge will be four lanes wide with an eight foot bicycle path. The new bridge will be raised about three and one-half feet above the height of the old bridge to accommodate canoes and fishermen on the river below. Also included in the bridge replacement are bridge approaches of about 500 feet long on either side of the river.

The cost of the project is approximately $800,000, and completion is slated for May, 1994. Two-lane traffic is currently shut down to one-lane causing extensive delays and back-ups of traffic during peak travel times. Although there is no routed detour around the construction, residents of the east side of Lake Margareth and Camp Grayling employees might consider using I-75 south, Four Mile Road west, and Military Road north to reach their destinations. Other residents of the western part of the county can expect delays of up to one-half hour.

In April of this year, Phil Becker, the project development engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation said the bridge replacement is one of three phases of improvement to M-72 that will eventually include four-lanes from the intersection with the I-75 Business Loop in Grayling to Old Lake Road, and eventually to the intersection with M-93.

M-72 BRIDGE DEMOLITION--This huge crane with a weighted ball on the end is in the process of demolishing the eastbound lane of M-72 over the AuSable River. Construction of the new bridge is expected to last well into the spring.

BEAR ILLEGALLY KILLED--A $1,500 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for illegally killing this black bear. The dead bear was discovered on Monday near Duck Lake.

Hanson Hills

Downhill skiing is not the only part of Hanson Hills that has been improved. Cross-country skiing is a very important part of the overall recreation program. This year there are two major improvements to cross-country skiing. The 12 kilometer red trail has been remapped to provide a more challenging skiing experience, and a good used groomer has been purchased to keep the trails in top condition for both classical and skating styles.

There are five cross-country trails totalling 35 kilometers of skiing for any level of expertise. Quality rental equipment and lessons are available at the X-C lodge. The Hanson Hills cross-country skiing facilities are open seven days a week from 8 a.m. until dusk.

The 1994 Michigan Cup Marathon will again be held at Hanson Hills. Thirty kilometer and 10 kilometer races will be held on Saturday, January 22.

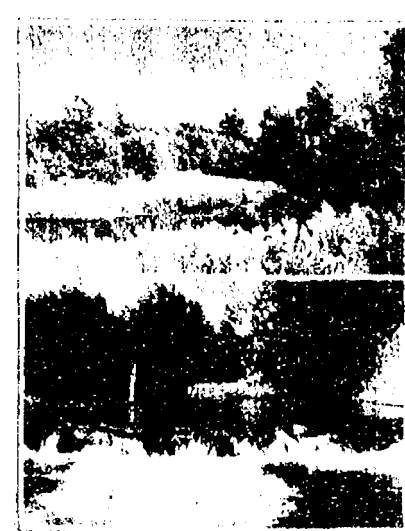

Ice skaters have not been forgotten at Hanson Hills. A larger public ice-skating rink will be available this year. "We are also considering building a second, lighted rink for hockey," Wyers said. "That depends on how much interest there is from the community."

Hanson Hills is operated under the authority of the Grayling Recreation Authority (GRA). GRA is a non-profit organization created by citizens who have an interest in preserving and enhancing parks and recreation in Crawford County. For more information and/or reservations, call (517) 348-9266.

Citizens urged to attend housing commission board meetings

I live in AuSagra Acres, sometimes known as 'the slums,' but I'd like to think our image has improved in the past few years.

I've lived here for six and a half years and seen a lot of change in our 'hood, both good and bad. What I'd really like to see change is the attitude and perseverance of the Grayling Housing Commission director and board members. I have been to several board meetings trying to get an idea of what goes on here. I have even spoken up a few times and now feel very unwelcome at these meetings. Maybe I'm stirring up trouble, but I don't care. I see so much waste here it's sickening.

I bet most people don't know where exactly their taxes are going in this particular system. This is a HUD subsidized low-income, senior and handicapped apartment complex, better known as The Projects. I live in the family section where I believe most of the problems occur.

We have had many 'neighbors' that have abused the system. They have killed trees, broken bricks off the buildings, stolen mail from neighbors, stolen bikes, bullied the playground so others couldn't play there, had (still have) others living with them who are not paying their fair share, have rented bedrooms to non-tenants, have rented storage barns to non-tenants, are still using slugs in the laundry machines, have caused thousands of dollars worth of damage to their apartments and/or yard and have moved out without paying. This list goes on and on. We've had tenants who have had other families living with them. One live-in had five children with her. That made ten people living in a three bedroom apartment.

The non-tenants children monopolized the entire complex, and it took months to get these people out. The director finally evicted this tenant by making a 'bargain' with her. They offer her Section 8 funding to get a private apartment. To me this was a blow. It meant we put up with the noise, the fighting, the abuse for months for no good reason. This Section 8 housing is funded by our taxes. And if a tenant damages a Section 8 apartment, our tax dollars will go toward fixing them up again! The damages done to her apartment were astronomical. Are we taxpayers supposed to sit back and let the higher-ups make all the decisions? Maybe the director needs to be reminded that the taxpayers pay his wages, therefore he is a civil servant, not a dictator. I urge everyone to attend meetings. Tell the director and board members what you want them to do. We need caring, open-mindedness and understanding in our leadership. After all, this 'project' is many peoples' homes.

As a citizen, I am devastated at the waste of tax dollars in this complex. Important things are put on the back burner. Many ex-tenants owe money that will never be collected. Thousands of dollars owed have been written off since this director has been at this position.

So please come to board meetings, public welcome. Ask questions, demand straight answers, we have the right to know.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Conservative, fundamental Christians are not allowed the same voice in our local papers

I want to thank the Editor of the Avalanche for printing my letter of October 7, 1993, under the reading "Reader says freedom of the press finds its roots in freedom of religion." As the instigator of this debate I trust you will allow me another opportunity to respond to the article written by Mr. Whitey Madsen in "From Our Corner" in your October 14 edition. As I am 58 years old, I come from the old school where I was taught and believe we should show proper respect for our elders. I wish to do that now, but Mr. Madsen simply is in error in many of his comments.

First I know very well that Mr. Madsen was the editor of the Avalanche for a long time, including the time in January 1973, when Pastor Barnett first began his column "The Bible Speaks." When I spoke of the "staff" of the Avalanche I was using the term generically and was not trying to point a finger at any individual. To me "staff" includes policy making personnel and not secretaries or support staff who generally just take orders. The paper's editor and owners certainly would be "policy making staff."

However, Mr. Madsen was moved to respond so I must write with his comment in mind.

While I did talk with Pastor Barnett regarding some factual information for this letter there was absolutely no collusion between Pastor Barnett and me in regards to my first letter. The words, thoughts and intents were mine alone.

In Mr. Madsen's closing remarks he suggests, "you [Pastor Van Kleeck] being from Roscommon, send your letters of bias to the Roscommon Herald News or the Houghton Lake Resorter ... etc." My response is, I have written to both over the years on matters I choose to pursue. Our church runs an ad every week in the Resorter as well. But surely it is Mr. Madsen who is bias. Surely he knows very well that it is quite common for people to write to any paper they wish. I do and have regularly read the "letters to the editor" in all three papers mentioned. I am not out of line. Mr. Madsen is. Letter's to the editor have appeared in all of our local papers from people who live here and who visit here and sometimes the papers themselves invite or permit outsiders to submit their letters to the editor.

While it is interesting to read about the early discussions between Mr. Madsen and Pastor Barnett it does not alter my point that conservative, fundamental Christians are not allowed the same voice in our local papers, in this case the Avalanche, as liberal ministers or liberal writers in general.

Pastor Barnett's recollections of those early conversations with Mr. Madsen do not jibe with Mr. Madsen's statements. But this we can know that when Pastor Barnett began his column it was allowed to stand alone. Later his column was followed with the abbreviated words, "pd. adv." in brackets. Later a short disclaimer appeared followed with a larger disclaimer followed by an even larger disclaimer, etc. The question is, why? Did Mr. Madsen make the changes by himself or was he pressured into doing so?

In one paragraph Mr. Madsen says, "you speak of a disclaimer, in case you do not know, that means, the Avalanche and staff does not necessarily believe in the content of the column. ..." Again, Mr. Madsen must not have read the disclaimer. It does not use the words "the Avalanche and staff does not necessarily believe in the content of the column. ..." What it says is, "The Bible Speaks" is a paid advertisement and DOES NOT REFLECT THE VIEWS OR

POLICIES OF THE CRAWFORD COUNTY AVALANCHE."

The disclaimer also says, "The factual allegations contained in the column are not verified by the newspaper. ..." I have two comments. First, does this mean that every single factual word of every other writer are always "verified" by the staff? Secondly, most of Pastor Barnett's factual statements are founded in the Bible. If the Avalanche staff were familiar with the Bible could they not then "verify" the factual statements?

Mr. Madsen says he is not a theologian. But the Bible was not written just for theologians. It was given to us by the Lord that we might read it and find redemption. May I relate to Mr. Madsen that the verse in John 17:17 was not spoken by John the Baptist but by the Lord Jesus Christ himself. May I also say that Martin Luther is one of my favorite writers. He was a reformation fighter and outspoken Christian to the point that many wanted to have him killed.

Finally, there is no "Baptist Bible." The King James Bible was first the 1611 Church of England (Anglican/Episcopal) Bible. While Pastor Barnett and I believe it is the preserved Word of God for the English speaking people of the world it is not exclusively Baptist.

I have given my life to the telling of the gospel truth that Jesus Christ died on the cross for sinners and that "whoever believeth in Him [the Lord Jesus] should not perish but have everlasting life." These are the words of the savior, John 3:16. I would that all men would accept Christ, escape hell, and go to heaven.

Sincerely,
William W. Van Kleeck, Pastor

Dear Mr. Ross: What is the correct behavior for a store clerk who discovered his necktie immersed in split pea soup? This happened to me while I was dining with a merchant who was considering me as a salesperson for a fancy line of bola ties. I noticed him looking strangely at me in the middle of the soup course. Then, to my horror, I saw that the bottom half of my old-fashioned necktie was resting in the soup. I quickly pulled it out and wrung it into my napkin.

I didn't get the job. My wife says it's because any potential bola salesman who might come to work wearing an old-fashioned tie, possibly smelling of pea soup, would damage the company's image. I've learned my lesson about long ties and pea soup, but I'm desperate for a job! If you can see fit to lend me $200 to look for one, I promise to wear a bow tie.

Vision violence faces demolition

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES are busy themselves lately with a broadside attack against violence on television. "The time for business as usual has come to an end," Janet Reno, attorney general, told a senate committee recently.

Congress has favored voluntary restraint by TV networks and producers, but Ms. Reno is threatening a big stick if that doesn't work.

"If significant voluntary steps are not taken soon," she said, "government action will be imperative."

The end of a better society through a calmer, more peaceful television is a laudable one; but is strict governmental regulation of what is essentially private enterprise the right way to go? Does the end justify the means?

THERE'S LITTLE QUESTION that television shapes lives, especially young lives. Much of this shaping is for the better. The information provided to youngsters so easily today far outstrips what was available two or three generations ago. Today's youth are the better for it.

But the other side of that coin is that television is just as influential — perhaps moreso — in influencing young lives for the worse. TV violence certainly plays an important part in that shaping.

The American Psychological Association, for example, estimates that a child sees 8,000 murders and 100,000 violent acts before the end of elementary school.

Morals are strongly affected by television, too. There can be little question that permissiveness, innuendo and moral laxness depicted on the home TV screen have been mirrored with similar developments in American society.

Voluntary restraint by those who decide what goes across the airwaves into American homes — and when it gets there — is much to be preferred over government controls. But whether voluntary restraint would be effective is questionable.

IT'S A TRUISM that every time government asserts control over any aspect of the private part of society, a degree of freedom is lost. Perhaps in the case of violence and moral decay spread through television, that's a justifiable price to pay for improvements to benefit society as a whole.

But what's the next step? What next will come under government control because some interest group or some concerned citizens don't like it?

Could government dictate what would be allowed on television, as well as what will not be permitted? Could newspapers and magazines be censored that way as well? Could government decide what books could be published, and what could be banned?

Violence on TV is a serious problem, which cries for attention. Government regulation is a serious problem, too, and should not be ignored. It's not a simple situation at all.

Commissioners urged to reject future proposals for expanding landfill operation

Crawford County Board of Commissioners

As concerned taxpayers and residents of Crawford County, we are writing to commend you for recently rejecting a proposed expansion of the Crawford County Landfill operation. Further, if other proposals for expansion of the landfill operation should come before your political body for consideration, we strongly urge you to reject those proposals. And, looking further forward, we encourage you to immediately begin seeking ways to entirely eliminate the landfill operation within Crawford County.

We have two basic reasons for taking this position. They are:

1. Our belief in the overriding need to preserve the water quality throughout the Manistee and AuSable river basins; and,

2. Our concern about your responsibility to protect the citizens of Crawford County from potential punitive financial claims by the State of Michigan and/or various environmental groups.

Regarding reason number one, preservation of water quality, it is our understanding the soil in Crawford County is uniquely porous, a highly unsatisfactory condition for an environmentally safe landfill operation. Special liners and/or soil additives offered to correct this situation are inordinately expensive and questionably effective, especially if certain toxic materials should be introduced to the landfill site. If the rivers and the source water for those rivers, as well as the water table, are polluted by waste disposal seepage, or any other source for that matter, the quality of life in this region will be severely damaged. If said quality of life is damaged it not only adversely affects those of us who live here, directly and immediately; it also has a negative impact on the public's perception of our area as a desirable recreation area. That, of course, would and most probably would result in dramatically reduced tourism traffic. In many ways, some of us would probably be happy to see a reduction in tourism, giving us more peace and quiet; but, realistically, we all realize that tourism dollars are of vital importance to local and regional economy.

Based on information obtained from reading a number of periodicals and from conversations with some of you, we have learned that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has assured you that current operational methods at the landfill meet state guidelines and that the landfill is being operated in a safe manner as it relates to potential soil and water pollution. We know, from talking with some of you, that this is a comforting situation. We contend that it should not be, unless the DNR is willing to issue Crawford County a legal document stating its beliefs unequivocally and unless the DNR is willing to accept full legal and financial responsibility for any environmental damage that might occur as a result of operating the landfill here. Short of that, the DNR's comments and assurances are of little true value. The DNR and/or any other organization—even one with pure motives and good intentions—can say almost whatever it wants to say with impunity. In the end analysis, the buck stops on your desk. This brings us to the second reason for our concern.

Regarding financial responsibility for environmental damage caused by the landfill operation, we know some of you believe that having contracted with a private corporation to operate the landfill will absolve you (the county board of commissioners) of responsibility for environmental damage, should it occur. We are not lawyers; nor are we totally familiar with all details of your contract with said corporation; however, if you are truly relying totally on this contract to protect you, and therefore the citizens you represent, from financial responsibility in this operation, it is our opinion that you are badly mistaken. We are certain your legal counsel would quickly tell you that no governing body can arbitrarily abrogate any of its responsibilities. Protecting the welfare of the citizens who elected you is one of your most basic responsibilities. You may contract with private parties to perform certain functions. You can even require such contracts to contain indemnification clauses. But, when all is said and done, the final responsibility lies directly with you. You were collectively and individually elected to represent us, to protect our rights and to look after our welfare as it relates to governmental activities. You, as the Crawford County Board of Commissioners, simply cannot get rid of your responsibility by contracting with others to perform certain tasks. If you, as members of the County Board of Commissioners, do not want to accept that, then you should not seek election to public office. That may seem harsh; but, that is how a representative democracy works.

Regarding the indemnification provision in the contract you have with the private corporation operating the landfill here, we understand that to provide for a $1 million set aside fund to handle damage claims. That might sound like a lot; but, in any environmental damage claim case, it is our belief that a million dollars would not even pay legal and research fees, let alone a settlement that might be awarded claimants. In addition, even if the amount were ten times that much it would still be no real protection. The corporation with whom you have contracted could be in bankruptcy, or have other problems, at the time of your need. The indemnification clause is then just so much paper. That, of course, speaks to the quality of the company with whom you have contracted. Without belaboring the issue, much of what we have heard and read about this company leaves us less than reassured of its quality; but, that's another topic and one that need not concern us at this moment.

We understand that environmentally safe refuse disposal is a difficult proposition in this day and age. We know this difficulty is compounded exponentially when you factor in ever increasing costs in a governmental area with a limited tax base, such as

Wendell L. Hoover Park Interpreter, Hartwick Pines State Park

Last week two school groups, from Shepard and Charlevoix, visited the park for guided tours. On Wednesday as we walked toward the old visitor center, the park crew was taking the big wheels to the maintenance garage for minor repairs and a coat of paint prior to their re-location at the new entrance.

While the group from Shepard went through the old visitor center, I stood on the porch and gazed at the location where the big wheels had sat since 1961 when I first worked here as a seasonal ranger. That spot looked strangely vacant, as only a log from the 1961 blow-down remained to mark the place where the wheels had been.

Behind where the wheels had sat all those years there had been a cleared isle-way or vista extending to the tall timber. If you weren't aware it had been there once upon a time, the area has since been replanted by nature and is no longer evident. In 1966, when I was assigned to the pines, the trees behind those wheels weren't even as tall as the hubs on the wheels, which are ten feet in diameter. Now those trees are at least 35 feet tall, if not 40 feet, making it a forest of thriving trees reaching for the sun.

Needless to say, it seemed strange to walk by that location where I had stopped with nearly 3,000 groups over the years. The big wheels had been a suitable place to make the first stop on a journey to yesterday and while there is a set of wheels at the logging camp to talk about, it will take awhile to get used to.

B.P.W. and Christian Help Center combine efforts for Christmas giving

Christmas is a special time for families and those less fortunate in our community look for a lift for the holidays.

To make giving more effective for families of varied sizes and needs, the Business and Professional Women of Grayling and the Christian Help Center have joined forces for the community service project. Instead of assisting families with food baskets, toys and clothing, each family will be given a gift certificate for a local store to buy the items most needed (excluding alcohol and cigarettes).

The amount of the gift certificate each family will receive will depend on cash donations received from groups and individuals. Your cash donation, however great or small, will be very much appreciated. Please give your check to any BPW members, drop it at the Christian Help Center, or mail to c/o Ruth Smith-Zumbaugh, Community Service Treasurer, 120 N. Roberts Road, Grayling, MI 49738.

It is very much hoped that all business and groups in our community will band together and use this channel to bring Christmas joy in the manner of a combined effort. Duplication will be avoided and hopefully, no one in real need will be overlooked, or left out.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT

By Joe Murphy

I've got to admit I like the slower pace of life in our town. Most folks seem to have more time to sit and talk now that the hustle and bustle of summer is over. It's good to have a chance to sit down with old friends and get an update on their joys and sorrows of the past few months. The snow birds will soon be going south for the winter and we will miss their smiling faces until the sun starts to shine on both sides of the fence again. I can't say I enjoy the snow and cold of winter, but now that I am retired, there is no reason I have to go out if it's too nasty out there. I have stock piled some good books to help me pass those days when I don't feel like facing the storm. A good book, a few nice apples, and maybe a platter of fudge, can make the worst day seem mild. Besides that, our winter diet includes a lot of great homemade soups that are on the stove nice and hot whenever a hunger pang happens to occur.

If the old man happens to be attacked by a nice little buck this deer season we will enjoy some meals of venison chops and pancakes. They are going to have to be pretty close for I intend to do most of my hunting with a handgun. I am pretty confident I can make a nice clean kill at up to 50 yards, beyond that they are safe, except under ideal conditions. I know my gun is capable of doing a good job at 100 yards, but I have doubts of my ability to place my shot at that distance. I have done a lot of hunting small game with a handgun and have found a way to use a walking cane to steady them down a lot. If anyone is interested in how to do it, stop in at my house at 603 Maple and I would be happy to show you how I do it.

The old man is feeling mighty proud today. Last summer a lady, Burnie Bonnell, who writes a column for the Morning Sun paper in Mount Pleasant interviewed me because of my writing. I had just about forgot about it, then today I received several copies of her finished column. She was most kind and generous in her praise of my work. I feel very proud that she would devote her entire column on me and my efforts. Thank you, kind lady, Burnie Bonnell.

The old man is not having much luck at working up any enthusiasm for the fast approaching deer season. It used to be I would be counting down for the first morning by days and hours. Not having my dad to compete with sure soured deer season for me. Trying to get my buck before dad did was a big deal for me. What always got me was I would spend a lot of time scouting, trying to find that perfect place for my first morning hunt, only to have a dozen other hunters gathered around me when it got day light. If the good Lord's willing, this will be my fifty second year of greeting the dawn of opening day in the deer woods.

"Chamber Update Newsletter"

Goals established at chamber retreat

The 12-member board of directors of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce along with the executive director, and two of the three ex-officio members of the board met during the chamber's annual two-day planning session that was held to establish a long range program of work for the chamber.

The following are a review of goals set by the board for each of the chamber committees. It will then be the responsibility of each committee chairperson to take these goals back to their town. Additionally, the committee to determine the specific objectives on how these goals will be reached.

Transportation Committee

Short term: It was agreed to continue support of the efforts of the M-72 "Lake To Lake" Association and to continue to pursue an additional on/off ramp from I-75 to North Down River Road.

Mid term: The committee is to research the feasibility of bike paths for the community and to address the need for better directional/service signs at the major entrance to the chamber would like to continue to be active in the efforts to establish a utilization/expansion plan for the Grayling Airport.

Long term: The committee is to continue efforts to educate the business community regarding transportation issues in the county. A side note to this was to work to establish a relationship with the existing railroad in the area.

Military Affairs Committee

Short term: It was suggested by the board to revamp the way sponsorships are solicited for the Military Affairs Receptions.

Mid term: Also regarding the receptions, to allow all chamber member establishments to bid on providing the food service for the military receptions. But, to continue the receptions with drawings for the military guests to promote return visits to the community. Finally, to encourage more chamber members to participate and attend the military receptions.

Long term: Continue open communication with the adjutant general and other officers of the Michigan National Guard and to continue to offer the use of the chamber building for the general's office hours with the community. Additionally, the committee is to offer the chamber's support regarding issues pertaining to the community and the military.

Tourism/ Beautification Committee

Short term: The committee is to ask the GAVC for input regarding how the chamber can assist their efforts to enhance "tourism" in the area. To continue networking with other organizations through the Chamber Business Advisory Group to address a long range beautification plan, and to work with these groups to establish a common "theme" for the Grayling area. This may include considering marketing or planning a major event centered around fly fishing.

Mid term: The board suggested that the committee work with local government to develop and enforce an ordinance to clean up properties (along major routes through and around town). Also it was felt that more directional/service signs to accommodate tourist traffic (lodging/ food) are needed. To encourage businesses to clean up, fix up and "re-commit" to community pride. In essence to assist the GAVC to establish Grayling as a recreational destination.

Long term: The board also felt it important for the committee to work with local agencies to investigate the feasibility of a county YMCA. Or to work with the county to establish one complete county wide recreational board concept (utilizing Hanson Hills).

Legislative Committee

Short term: The committee was asked to continue legislative focus on local issues such as:

health care, education, business development, and local government. To continue the school, and to offer current programs: career exploration newsletter updates, programs for high school quarterly legislative forums and ex-officio members on board of directors (from the city, the county and military) and importance of a solid "work to work to build better relationships with legislators in and around Crawford County.

Mid term: The committee was asked to offer support to the "pro-active" Business Advisory Committee to pursue common goals and community needs, and to coordinate, communicate and cooperate with local units of government toward discussing the goals outlined above.

Long term: It was felt that the committee should aggressively work with the county to seek resolve to the issue of 70% of local educators to Crawford County being emphasize how their state and federally owned, teaching interacts with Another idea was to recommend the utilization of Grayling's geographic location to conduct legislative forum meetings for the region.

Economic Development Committee

Short term: The board recommended to replace the Chamber's Economic Development Committee with the Chamber's Business Advisory Group and to utilize that group to be actively involved in the development of common goals and a unified plan for the county.

Mid term: Business Advisory group will be asked to assist in the creation/recruitment of more opportunities for "small" business. Additionally, one need addressed was to encourage residential planning/subdivisions as part of the bigger plan and to offer the chamber as an "informational central" for all of these development group efforts. As a side note it was suggested for the committee to establish if it is feasible to support Mercy Hospital as a V.A. Authorized Hospital in northern Michigan.

Education Committee Short term: The committee has been asked to promote business development, and local apprentice programs with government. To continue the school, and to offer current programs: career exploration newsletter updates, programs for high school quarterly legislative forums and ex-officio members on board of directors (from the city, the county and military) and importance of a solid "work to work to build better relationships with legislators in and around Crawford County.

Mid term: One important issue was to help educate the family on the county and military) and importance of a solid "work to work to build better relationships with legislators in and around Crawford County. business awareness programs to address the business' perspective on to the "pro-active" why students are in school Business Advisory ie: future work/life skills. One other request to the committee is to involve Kirtland Community College in this educational process.

Long term: Overall, the board would like to involve the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce in K-12 business awareness for students in Crawford County by working with the issue of 70% of local educators to emphasize how their state and federally owned, teaching interacts with business objectives and to provide educational programs for local businesses on training of high school students.

Membership Committee

Short term: The committee has been asked to survey the chamber membership to establish concerns, needs and services desired. Other tasks include: talking up all of the "advantages" of chamber membership and to consider the establishment of a "trial membership" for prospective members.

Mid term: The committee has been asked to recruit an additional thirty members to the chamber this year while working to retain current members via individual contacts, and to seek continued membership growth throughout the entire county.

Long term: The committee will offer programs that will address customer service, and member-to-member networking.

Winterfest to take on new challenge

The Chamber's Winter Festival Committee has been meeting over the past few months to discuss a change in the concept of the previous Winter Fest events. The committee has agreed that what is needed is a new draw, to inspire local and tourist interest. The committee feels confident that the idea of holding a winter triathlon could be that draw. The idea for the "Winter Wolf Challenge" was generated by committee member, David Sabin, and was immediately adopted by the group. The events would span two days on February 19th and 20th, 1994 and begin with a timed, limited distance but challenging, cross country ski race to be held at Hanson Hills. From there, participants would have to kick off their skis and make a minor change into snowshoe equipment. The snowshoe race would take them approximately two miles to the entrance of Camp Grayling. The exact details of the events have not been worked out. However, the committee is looking forward to having input from such winter event of similar local experts as Dick Foltz of the Cross Country Ski Shop and Michael Searles of Cartwright & Danewell (snowshoe outfitters), each of which are extremely knowledgeable in their given fields. On the second day of the challenge the participants would brave a short trek on the AuSable River in kayaks. Again, the committee will be consulting with local experts and the various canoe liveries for their support for this event. The Winter Fest Committee is excited about the opportunities that such an event could generate for the area. Granted it is not the Grayling Winter Carnival of 20 years ago, and that is precisely what the committee is trying to emphasize. It is time for new ideas and opportunities. The committee felt that because the Grayling community already has established itself as a haven for avid outdoor enthusiasts with the AuSable River Canoe Marathon, it would be a natural tie for the community to have a having input from such winter event of similar local experts as Dick Foltz

LIONESS CLUB DONATES TO BEAUTIFICATION PROJECT—Lioness President Marja Shepard (right) makes a donation on behalf of the Grayling club to Chamber Director Deborah Allen. The gracious $500 donation will be utilized for the Community Beautification Project that was initiated by the chamber last year. The first phase of the project will take place in spring of 1994 with plantings, signs and landscaping on the I-75 Business Loop at the south entrance of town.

Unkept promises aggravate Michigan customers

Unkept promises are the surest way to aggravate Michigan customers, according to a recent release from the Corporate Calling Center regarding a survey of 490 Michigan residents during June, 1993. Of the individuals surveyed, 59% found the experience of "service promises not being kept" so aggravating they gave it a ten, the highest rating. The top five pet-peaves of Michigan customers were:

1. Service promises not being kept;
2. Discourteous service personnel;
3. Personnel who act like they're doing you a favor;
4. Domineering and demanding personnel, and;
5. Personnel who attend to their personal business.

M.E.S.C. reorganizes to serve business needs better

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Tax Office has recently reorganized to ensure that the office is more attentive to the needs of the Michigan employer community.

Specifically seven individual Employer Service Teams have been established to address employment tax inquiries. When a call is placed or a letter mailed, that single call or letter will initiate all action that needs to be taken to solve your problem or answer your question about your MESC tax account.

Your personal employer service team number range is determined by the last three digits of your seven digit MESC employer number. There are teams that have been appointed to each number range. For information on your team either call the MESC office at 313/876-5628 or the chamber office at 348-2921.

Investment Opportunities?

YOU WON'T HAVE TO TRAVEL TO TIMBUKTU

Until recently, if you wanted to purchase stocks, bonds, mutual funds, or tax-deferred investments, you had to go to a traditional broker, maybe located at a great distance from your home.

Through PRIMEVEST Financial Services, Inc., conveniently located right here at Empire National Bank, you can have access to many investment opportunities, in addition to all the services you already enjoy.

Ara Gallagher
Miss Wallace 5th grade
The Haunted Basement

It was a dark and foggy night, Devil's Night. Little children were knocking on peoples doors and running away, teenagers were egging peoples cars and windows. Warewolves were howling at the moon and two girls had a Halloween Party.

Ara and Jolie were both ten years old and their parents gave them permission to a Halloween party. They invited eleven girls from school. Ara and Jolie told the girls to wear their Halloween costumes and bring scary videos and cassettes to the party. The girls told a story about how a cereal killer took all of his victims to Jolie's house before Jolie's family moved in and killed people there. "That story was fake," Jolie laughed hysterically. But Jolie didn't know that the story was real.

By eight o'clock the girls had listened to all of the tapes and watched all of the movies except one it was called, The Haunted Basement.

The Haunted Basement was supposed to be the scariest movie of the year so they had to see it. They showed a big house at the beginning. "AHHHH, Jolie screamed, "that's my house, Mom mom come quick."

"What dear?" said Jolie's mom.

"That's your house Mrs. Skwiercz,"

Ara screamed.

"Oh my God it is, Jolie's mom cried. What's the movie about?" She snapped.

"It's about a cereal killer that takes all of his victims into the basement of this house on Devil's Night and buries them alive," replied Priscilla Akins, a girl at the party.

"What's that sound?" cried Amanda Phillips.

"What sound?" Ara shrieked.

"That scratching," quivered Amanda.

"Let's go take a closer look?" Jolie questioned.

The girls paused the movie and checked the basement. There they saw the outline of a black cat. "Oh it's just a stray cat," muttered Jolie. As the girls walked up the stairs they giggled and joked about the cat, buy Ara and Jolie knew something.

The girls started the movie again but this time the girls snuggled together uncertain of the unknown. As the movie continues it shows the killer have a struggle with one of his victims and both people fall into the cement and were both buried alive. As the girls fall asleep they are revealed that the killer isn't still roaming around Farminton, were the girls are.

At two o'clock eleven of the thirteen girls were sound asleep, but Ara and Jolie were woke up startled from the dream they both had.

"You had a dream didn't you?" Ara asked concerned for Jolie.

"Yea about him did you?" Jolie whimpered.

"Okay Jolie lets just go to bed and we'll take care of it in the morning."

The next morning Jolie's mom said, "Okay girls it's time to get ready to go your parents will be here any minute. Ara and Jolie when the girls are gone stay out of the house for a while because I've got some guys coming over to do some repairs on the house." One by one the girls began leaving. After the last girl left Ara and Jolie sat under a huge apple tree thinking about last night and trick or treating tonight. Ara mentioned the dream and how upsetting it was for her. Jolie looked into Ara's eyes and began to cry saying "I've never told anyone this but I had the same dream five years ago as the one last night."

"What was it about?" Ara asked. Suddenly Jolie said, "Let's talk about it later, lets go to the library." So the girls ran inside the house and asked if they could go to the library. Jolie's said it was okay so off they went.

While at the library Ara discovered that Jolie's neighbor owned both houses at the time of the killings. Ara got some pictures of old houses and showed them to Jolie. "Hey look Jolie at all of these old houses!" Then Ara asked Jolie "Who lived in your house before you moved in?"

"I don't know," Jolie replied saying, "all I remember my dad saying is the same person who owned this house owned my next door neighbors house too." Ara became curious asking Jolie "Who lives next door to you, I've never seen anyone there anytime I'm here?"

"Well there is a guy that lives there with his dad, his mom died of cancer a few years ago. But this guy never comes out of his house. He has some kind of problem with his face that makes him real ugly but he's never bothered me. We usually just wave at each other." The girls got board so they went back home.

At home they decided to get some toys from the basement. While reaching for a game Ara slipped into an opening in the wall. It was very dark but Ara wanted to investigate. Jolie wasn't interested but went along anyways. With a crack of light from the basement they were able to see a long tunnel going toward the neighbors house. Jolie got too scared so they both gave up and went back upstairs, but Ara still wondered. Later on that night after everyone else slept Ara went down into the tunnel with a flash light. She found names scralled on the side of the walls. In the distance she saw a small glimer of light. As she got closer to it she heard voices. Strange voices coming from an area she did not know. Slowly she moved forward approaching an opening in a doorway. In it she saw three skeletons sitting in chairs at a table. But they were dressed in women's clothing. With them was an ugly man talking to them like they were alive. Ara gasped trying to run out, but it felt as if her legs would not move. The man turned he let out a yell, "Who is out there spying on me?" Because of the darkness he was not able to see Ara, she kept running back through the house.

The next day an investigation was done by the police. The bodies were found and the neighbor was taken to a mental hospital and the man told the people there that he always hated women because they always made fun of him.

Mrs. Pahssen and Miss Gnatek's fifth graders would like to thank Camp AuSable for a wonderful day on Wednesday, October 20.

We'd also like to thank the chaperones and the tour guide for the day.

We had a great time on the hay ride and we learned alot from the nature center. Thank-you for letting us feed and pet the horses. The fort looked authentic. The hay ride was fun and bumpy. Then when we got back from the hay ride we had some apple juice and cookies. Thank-you for them. They were delicious. The trip was a lot of fun.

Thanks again.

(Mrs. Pahssen's fifth graders have been writing stories about their lives pretending that they are pumpkins.)

Melissa Bollard
Mrs. Pahssen 5th grade
The Special Halloween

It begins when I was a small pumpkin. I was in the pumpkin patch, a kid came up to me and picked me up. He told his mom and dad he wanted me. So I went home with the kid and his parents.

The boy took me into the kitchen. He took out a large thing, I panicked. He took the large object to me and started to cut me, it hurt. When he was done he put a light in me. Then he took me outside and left me there.

One night I was on the porch and all these kids, or what ever they were, came up to the house. They rang the bell and said, "Trick or Treat." They got candy and I said to myself, I want some of that. All of a sudden, a kid kicked me off the porch, I landed on my head and I could not feel anything. The next morning, the kid that took me came out of the house. I wanted to say something, but I could not, so I just laid there. Night fell and I was still in the yard. The next day the boy found me and took me to a strange place. He threw me into a bag and he left. I stayed there for a long time, One day one of my seeds fell on the ground. The next day a pumpkin was where my seed had dropped. I stayed with my pumpkin friend until I died, but I never did and I will not for a long, long time. That is the truth. I am a magic pumpkin and every Halloween, I am taken home with someone and I am carved and thrown away, but that Halloween was one of the best.

VERSE OR WORSE

By Joe Murphy

We Remember

It was just a year ago today
That the Lord called our friend away
He had lived a full and fruitful life
Had known days of joy and days of strife

We remember our friend and his friendly smile
For being a helpful man was his style
When we walked into the bakery in the early morn
He was there to greet us our good friend Loren

He always had a few friendly words to say
That somehow brightened the darkest day
Though he was aged none called him old
And we loved those little stories he told

All who knew him he won their praise
As he lived out his allotted days
A friend to all and a caring man
Who lived according to God's plan

He had a fine family and loving wife
Who were there to share his days of life
Our hearts grieve for the husband and father lost
This man who loved but never bossed

When I walk into the bakery this morn
I would love to be greeted by my friend Loren
But still I know that in my mind's eye
I'll see him as in days gone by

Pop, we remember you each day
And miss you each in our own way
Smile as you watch from heaven above
For all remember you with love

Be yourself. Trying to be someone you are not will only cause greater problems. Keep emotions under control. Use your good common sense to make important decisions. Listen to the counsel of one who knows more than you. Good advice should not be taken lightly. Good time to make changes in your business or career. Any partnerships created at this time are sure to be a great success. Don't overlook anything that may affect your credit. Be careful not to overspend. Be careful what you wish for - you just might get it...and it may not be what you really wanted. A commitment made now is likely to be broken soon. Postpone any actions until a later date. If personal and professional demands are causing conflict, step back and examine them from a distance. Are they worth it? Use your creative abilities to bring things under control. Organize your time and talents. If you have not updated your will lately, give thought to making changes to better protect your heirs. Do not be afraid to share your hopes and dreams with others. You never know when someone else might help them come true. Someone you do not know may become your staunchest ally. Good friends are hard to find so take care to hold onto them.

Football season ends with 31-6 loss to Gaylord

By Terry Wright

The 1993 season ended for Coach Dave Larkin's Grayling Viking varsity football team in his third consecutive loss to the Gaylord Blue Devils. Gaylord took the Vikings last Friday by a score of 31-6. Gaylord is the only conference team that Larkin has yet to beat in his three years as the GHS varsity coach. In his first two seasons in Grayling, Larkin had perfect records going in to the Gaylord game only to lose both times.

This year the Vikings spent rebuilding a program that graduated most of their experience, and their record slipped to two wins against seven losses.

In the Gaylord game the Vikings only score came when senior quarterback Chris Wolcott sneaked into the endzone from one yard out. The Blue Devils scored on four long touchdown runs, including one punt return for a touchdown. The Blue Devils also caught the Vikings in their own endzone twice for safetys.

"They were huge," Larkin said. "Much, much bigger than we were. We just didn't have the weapons to beat them."

In a game short on Viking offensive highlights, junior Steve Bugyi led the rushing attack gaining 36 yards on nine carries. Wolcott hit on seven of 11 passes for 64 yards, and sophomore Andy Perrin connected on four of twelve pass attempts for 33 yards. Perrin played most of the second half at quarterback when Wolcott was sent to the hospital with a sprained knee.

Defensively the Vikings had three men with double figure tackles. Seniors Brent Kernstock, Mike Hartman, and Chris Wolcott had 17, 14, and 11 tackles apiece.

Larkin said, "The defense played a pretty good game except for four plays."

Next year Larkin said he is looking forward to a lot of returning experience from running backs Bugyi, Perrin, and sophomore Chris Kucharek, and junior receivers Scott Longendyke and Chris Jones. "The most pleasant surprise of the season was Kris Anderson," Larkin said. "He had never played football before but turned into one of the leading receivers in northern Michigan."

Varsity girls pick up two big victories

By Terry Wright

Coach Tom Mills' girls Viking varsity basketball team evened its conference record last week with two big wins. At home on Tuesday the Vikings bested the Kalkaska Blue Blazers by a score of 66-42. On Thursday in Alcona the Vikings beat the Tigers 54-46.

Against Kalkaska, the Vikings controlled the game from the beginning but a huge second quarter in which the Vikings outscored their opponent 22-6 was a killing blow for Kalkaska. "Our defense was the key to our offense," Mills said. "We caused a lot of turnovers, and turned most of them into layups."

The Vikings balanced scoring attack was led by junior Nicole Parker who tossed in 19 points. Sophomore Brooke Blaauw added 12, and sophomore Amy Neal added 13.

On Thursday, at Alcona, the game was much closer. The Vikings defensive pressure and rebounding strength kept the game out of the hands of the Tigers.

Parker again led the Viking scorers with 13 points followed by Blaauw with 12.

Defensively, the Vikings had three girls with double digit rebounds. Neal had 13, and seniors Suzy Lovely and Darcie McCurdy each pulled down 11.

"We had 29 offensive rebounds," Mills said. "That's how you win ball games." Mills praised the play of Lovely who came off the bench to score seven points to go with her 11 rebounds.

The girls are now tied for second in their conference with a three win, three loss record. They are 6-9 in overall play.

On Tuesday, the Vikings host the tough Gaylord Blue Devils, and on Friday, the girls travel to Whittemore-Prentiss to take on the Cardinals.

LOVELY CONTROLS THE BALL--Senior Suzy Lovely keeps the basketball away from a Kalkaska defender. The Viking varsity girls went on to defeat the Kalkaska Blue Blazers 66-42.

JV gridders end season with loss to Blue Devils

By Terry Wright

The Grayling Viking junior varsity football season ended on a sour note Friday as the Vikes went down to defeat at the hands of the Gaylord Blue Devils by a score of 42-12. The Blue Devils scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the second, and three in the third quarter.

The Vikings got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when quarterback Joe Godlewski sneaked across the line for a two-yard score. Scott Hartman's kick for the PAT went wide of the goalposts.

The much larger Blue Devil squad dominated the Vikings through the first three quarters. In the fourth the Vikings held off the Blue Devil attack and ended up winning the quarter 6-0, scoring their second and last touchdown with only 55 seconds left in regulation play on sophomore Ryan Schlehuber's six-yard run. A fake kick/pass attempt for the extra point failed.

The loss gave the junior Vikings a 3-5 win/loss record for the season. Among the many highlights of the season was the running of Schlehuber who carried the ball regularly this year and gained more than 1,000 yards including more than 200 in the Lake City game.

Of next year's team, Coach Chuck Spencer said, "We have the nucleus for a real good group of kids coming back. We're real enthusiastic, and we'll be very competitive."

Besides Schlehuber, Coach Spencer praised the good work of sophomores John Hilyard on the line, Jason Thompson at end, Joe Godlewski at quarterback and defensive back, Jason Hatfield at receiver and halfback, and Scott Hartman kicking.

"Also," Spencer said, "I think Aaron Perrin and Jason Hall both did a good job as freshmen."

JV hoopster girls edge by Kalkaska, lose to Alcona

By Terry Wright

The GHS junior varsity basketball team split a pair of games last week, winning an exciting game at home against Kalkaska on Tuesday, but dropping a game in Alcona on Thursday.

Against the Kalkaska Blue Blazers, the lead changed hands many times and went right down to the wire before the Vikings took the game by a 50-49 score.

"Defense was the key," Coach Chris Duncley said. "They played very well together as a team. Sarah Amman and Monica Lawrence did a great job controlling the defensive boards."

Freshman Annie Henion led the Viking scoring attack with 17 points, followed by sophomore Lawrence with ten. Sophomore Jessica Wyss added nine, sophomore Jennifer Wallace had seven, freshman Holly Anger hit for four and sophomore Amman added three.

On Thursday, in Alcona, the Vikings had trouble finding the basket, hitting on only 16 of 72 field attempts and five of 13 freethrow attempts, losing to the Tigers by a score of 50-37.

"I felt we played well as a team," Duncley said. "What hurt us was the shooting. Sarah Amman and Monica Lawrence controlled both the offensive and defensive boards, but the ball just wouldn't fall for us."

Jessica Wyss led Viking scorers with ten points, followed by Lawrence seven, Henion six, Amman five, Mandy McEvers four, Jennifer Wallace three, and Jennifer Pahssen two.

This week the Vikings hosted the Gaylord Blue Devils on Tuesday, and on Thursday they travel to Whittemore-Prentiss to take on the Cardinals.

JV TEAM BEATS KALKASKA 50-49--The junior varsity Viking girls' basketball squad took a thriller against Kalkaska. Here sophomore Sarah Amman takes the ball to the hoop for two.

All citizens of Crawford County are cordially invited to come out and pay tribute to our courageous men and women of the Armed Forces.

Camp Grayling open to hunting November 15-30

Camp Grayling's commander, Colonel Wayne Koppa, reminds hunters that nearly all of the Camp's training areas are open to the public during Michigan's firearm deer season, November 15-30.

Game laws and hunting are regulated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources on Camp property, as they are on other hunting areas of the state. Areas not open to hunting are the Hanson State Game Refuge, and any fenced range impact areas restricted by DNR Closure Orders, which cover less than 10% of the 147,000 acres used for training.

Traditionally, no military training is scheduled during this 16-day period, both for the safety of soldiers, and for the benefit of those who want to enjoy the outdoors. More information on hunting/non-hunting areas is available from Captain John Leask or Sergeant Walter Walsh of Camp Grayling Range Operations, by calling 517-348-3700.

Colonel Koppa is joined by the Camp Grayling Conservation Club in encouraging all hunters to practice good sense and safety, by avoiding populated areas, being sure of their targets, and leaving the woods in as good a condition as they were found. Hunters and sportsmen are requested to drive only on established roads and trails.

Additional information on hunting-related opportunities and local accommodations may be obtained by calling the Grayling Area Visitors' Council, at 1-800-937-8837.

Gypsy moth scoping meeting November 18

For residents of Lovells, Grayling and Beaver Creek townships, this is the time of the year to think about gypsy moths. Residents of those township have until November 30 to get their requests for spray in to the Crawford County Gypsy Moth Coordinator. Requests must be in writing and include the 911 address as well as the land description of the property. For residents of a platted subdivision, the name of the subdivision and the lot number would be sufficient. Requests should be mailed to Gypsy Moth, 6771 S. Military Road, Grayling, MI, 49738, or they may be dropped off at the Crawford County Building.

Requests for spray can also be turned in at the Annual Scoping Meeting, which will be held this year on Thursday evening, November 18. The meeting, which is open to all residents of Crawford County, will begin at 7 p.m. in the basement of the Crawford County Building. The purpose of the meeting is to explain to residents the Gypsy Moth Spray Program, which is carried on in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and to answer any and all questions concerning the gypsy moth and its control. Staff members from the Michigan Department of Agriculture will be present at this meeting.

Just because an area was sprayed this year does not mean that it will be sprayed again next year. The 1994 spray program will be conducted on only those lands which owners have requested in writing, to be considered for spray. In addition, the property must meet the Department of Agriculture guidelines in order to be eligible for cost sharing of the spray. The Crawford County Gypsy Moth Coordinator can be reached at 348-5187 during business hours.

Teenage Sexual Revolution

Some teenagers are growing more intelligent than the adult generation which is corrupting them. They are not sure they can trust the integrity of Dr. Joycelyn Elders, the new Surgeon General, since she knowingly passed out defective condoms to teenagers across Arkansas and still defends her actions. They are not sure following the lyrics of a Madonna or Janet Jackson will lead them to a future of health and happiness.

Major news reported four of the fifteen pom-pom girls or 25% of the varsity cheerleaders (ages 15-17) of Hempstead High in Texas are pregnant. When the local school board benched the pregnant girls, the New York Times called this another example of America not accepting the realities of teenage sex: "These girls should neither be stigmatized nor stopped from joining in any school activity." After all, they have been taught they are only animals that cannot keep from having sex. Liberals believe they only needed better sex education, condom distribution and abortion services.

Sex outside of marriage is a sin against God. As David said when confessing his adultery to God: "Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done [this] evil in thy sight..." (PSA 51:4). It is secondly a sin against the individual you have sex with and a sin against his/her entire family. Thirdly, it is a sin against your own body. "Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body." (1 CO 6:18). It is the 7th Judeo-Christian commandment: "Thou shalt not commit adultery." (EXO 20:14).

Across America teenagers are joining in a spiritual campaign of sexual purity called "True Love Waits." Some call it a sexual counter-revolution by youth who believe they have a choice in their sexual future. They believe the liberal culture has lost faith in them and their future. They are tired of having condoms and sex education thrown at them with the assumption their sexual activity will either continue or increase.

Many teens are signing a simple pledge: "Believing that true love waits, I make a commitment to God, myself, my family, those I date, my future mate, and my future children to be sexually pure until the day I enter a covenant marriage relationship." Some are writing letters and sealing them for their future husband or wife to tell them how much they love them by waiting until marriage. As 18 year old Rick Bedient of Houston said, "Since I accepted Christ as my savior, I happily took the pledge. Sex is something God made to say 'I love you.'" Teenage choice need not be limited to sex sin or abortion murder, it can also lead to sexual purity and marital fidelity.

HEALTHLINE

Linda DeMarchis, M.A., Health Educator

This column is presented as a public service to the community by District Health Department No. 1 which serves, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, and Crawford counties. If you have a question you would like answered, please send it to Health Educator District Health Department No. 1, 401 Lake St., Cadillac, Michigan, 49601.

Question: Our family likes to fix large batches of soup and chili ahead of time to serve our hungry hunters during deer season. Could there be a problem with this?

Answer: We are rapidly approaching the time of year when numerous family gatherings, chili suppers and bazaars are taking place. This also means that we are fast approaching the possibility of bacteria growing in large containers of food, causing food-borne illness.

Because of the chilly weather, many cooks plan on serving soups, chili and stews to their shivering guests. Some are prepared in advance for later reheating. This requires adequate knowledge on the part of the food handler, who must cook, cool and reheat large quantities of food in a safe manner.

If soups, chilies, sloppy joes, etc., are cooked before hand, they must be cooled at such a rate that all portions of the mixture drop to 45 degrees Fahrenheit in four hours or less. Inadequate cooling of large quantities of food is one of the main causes of food-borne illness in this country.

There are two ways to cool a large quantity of food safely:

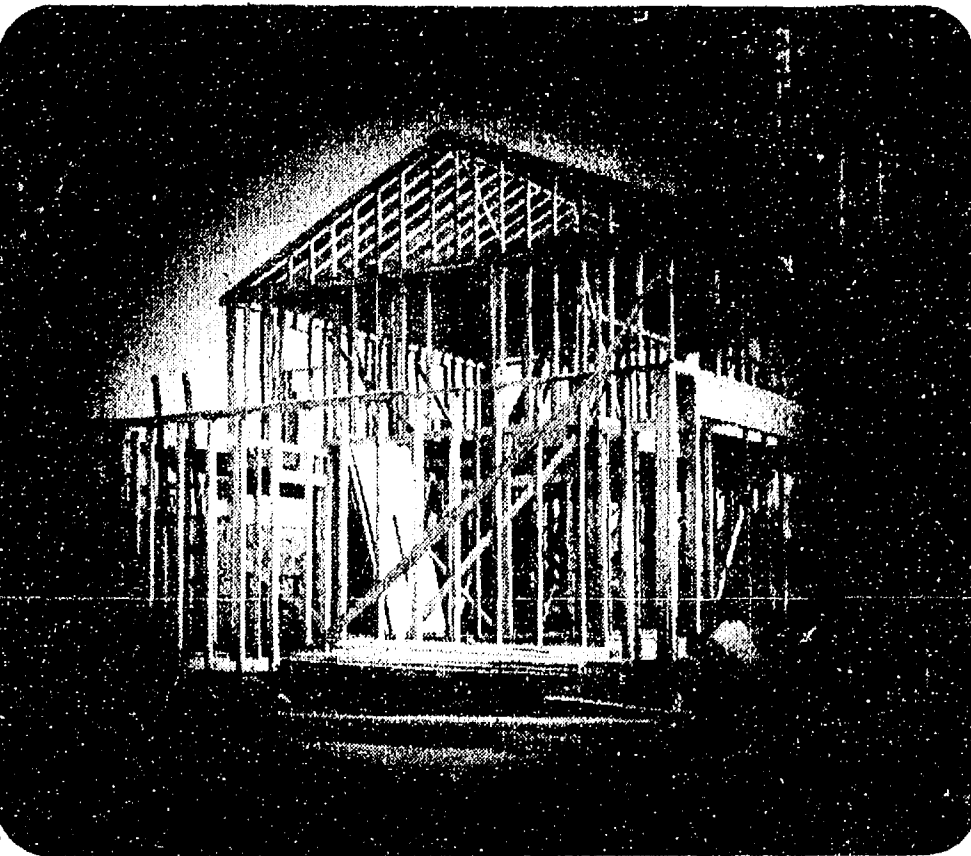

•First, the food can be redistributed into shallow containers to a depth of four inches or less and refrigerated until cold. Shallow containers are especially important if the food is too thick to stir while cooling down.

•A second method is to place the food container in a large sink filled with ice to the level of the food. Water is added to the ice and the food is stirred frequently to equalize the cooling process. As ice melts, more ice is added. The temperature of the food is checked frequently so that food can be placed in shallow containers if not cooling fast enough. When the temperature is reduced to 45 degrees Fahrenheit within the four hour limit, the food is transferred to the refrigerator until ready to heat and serve.

Although these methods seem like a time-consuming nuisance, they are important and necessary. Other food preparation safety tips may be obtained by calling the food sanitarians at the environmental health offices of the health department. Their advice is especially important if an organization you belong to is planning a bazaar or hunter's supper that is open to the public. Then you should inquire about applying for a temporary food service license if you are organizing such an event.

"UNDER CONSTRUCTION"

It is interesting to note our various construction preferences. Some of us find sheer delight in the tactile texture and design of a building, though the edifice itself may be transient in endurance. Others seek satisfaction only in the technically perfect structure which will endure for many years. Then, there are those who simply prefer to watch others do the building. That's fine too. Our world would be rather "lopsided" if our innate preferences were all identically planned.

Yet, there is one set of plans that leaves little room for variance...the plan by which we construct our lives...that which we must do for ourselves. We must construct our lives upon faith as solid as the walls within which we worship each Sabbath, and design them within the guidelines set forth in God's Word. Finally, we must pray each day for the Creator's guidance, for truly we are each... "under construction".

Travel and Adventure Series off to Switzerland

On Thursday evening, November 11, the third presentation of the Crawford AuSable Community Education Travel and Adventure Series — Beautiful Switzerland with Ted Bumiller will appear in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium at Grayling High School.

Switzerland is a beautiful country with astonishing range and elaborate frescoes — Ballenberg, open air museum, Lucerne, the old town, famous Lion Monument, paddle steamer exploring Lake Lucerne — Altdorf, home of Legendary William Tell, Bern, Federal capital, home of famous brown bear — Gruyeres, medieval stronghold, Geneva, the Jet d'Eau and the United Nations buildings — Castle of Chillon — Jungfraujoch, train ride to the top — Brienz, wood carvers — Zermatt, the foot of the Matterhorn — Rine Falls — Zurich, shopping and weddings at the City Hall — Appenzell, Swiss wrestling — Schwyz, historic parade on Independence Day — Furka Pass, spectacular scenery — Sheep Festival, flag throwing, alp-horn and yodeling contests — Lugano, shopping at the market — Glacier Express train from Zermatt to St. Moritz and Klosters, soaring skiers, ice skating, high speed Cresta and bob sled runs.

Ted Bumiller, Cincinnati architect, started traveling in his high school days. His first rugged trip was by canoe 600 miles along the Albany River to Hudson Bay in Canada. On this trip, he and his companion almost lost their lives while running "Speckle Trout" rapids — four miles of white water through twisting rapids and over waterfalls. With their canoe smashed, they were given up for lost when an Indian found part of the equipment and reported it to the Mounted Police. They were found seven days later and in time were flown out by sea plane to a gold mine and safety. After graduating from the University of Cincinnati, College of Design, Architecture, Art and Planning with a degree in architecture, Ted Bumiller traveled for the next half year in Europe and Africa.

The journey to Switzerland will begin at 7:30 p.m. Doors to the auditorium will open at 6:45 p.m. Tickets are available at the door, $3.50 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students.

The Travel and Adventure Series is part of the cultural events offerings of your local Community Education Program in partnership with the following area corporations and businesses: T. Bloomquist, Atty., Chemical Bank North, Crawford County Avalanche, Fick & Sons, Inc., Grayling Holiday Inn, Grayling Hospital for Animals, Mercy Health Services North, GSB, Hospitality House, Mac's Drug Store, Michigan Consolidated Gas, Scheer Motors, Inc., Rochette's IGA, Lange Vending, Northern Litho, Ole Dam Party Store, Grayling Viking Band Boosters, H.
